Pompidou To Continue Visit Despite Misgivings

White Plains, N.Y. (UPI) — French President Georges Pompidou has decided to go through with a two-day visit to New York despite misgivings and displeasure over stormy pro-Israel demonstrations against him in Chicago, a spokesman said Sunday night.

While Pompidou was spending the night in this suburb north of New York, there were reports at his travel party headquarters in New York that Mrs. Pompidou might return to France Monday morning.

The president's wife was described as tired, but there was no official word on whether she planned to leave before her husband completes his schedule in the city.

The spokesman said in New York, "I have no knowledge of any change in his original plans."

These calls for Pompidou to meet with leaders of Jewish organizations at the Waldorf-Astoria in the morning after spending the night at the Georgian mansion here of U.S. Protocol Chief Emil Mosbacher. He was scheduled to lunch with U.N. Secretary-General U Thant.

Hughes To Be Featured Speaker At Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner

Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa will be the featured speaker at the Democratic Party's annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Omaha May 1.

The fund-raising event will be held at Omaha's Civic Auditorium and televised statewide on the Nebraska Educational Television Network, State Chairman Hess Dyas of Lincoln announced Sunday. Hughes, a darkhorse prospect for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, has served in the Senate since 1969. Prior to his election as the first Democratic senator from Iowa in 20 years, Hughes served three terms as governor.

Hughes jumped into the Democratic national spotlight in 1968 when he placed the name of Sen. Eugene McCarthy in nomination for the party's presidential nod at Chicago.

The Iowan is now a leading member of the Democratic commission on party reform.

Hughes has also received national publicity recently as chairman of the new Senate subcommittee on alcoholism and narcotics. He is a recovered alcoholic.

His Democratic colleagues have chosen the 48-year-old as assistant majority whip in the Senate.

"It is an honor to welcome to Nebraska man who has made such a positive impression in the United States Senate in just one year," Dyas said.

Tickets for the dinner will be $35 a plate.

LUNAR DUST MISSING

Unguarded Vial Feared Stolen

. DISPLAYED AT BENEFIT

Los Angeles (UPI) — A vial of moon dust disappeared and was presumed stolen while on display at a charity event to raise money for scientific research, officials disclosed Sunday.

It was one of three samples of lunar material displayed Saturday on the second floor of a department store being used for the affair, which included a $100-a-plate dinner.

The 2.3 grams of dust — about a spoonful — was in a glass vial two inches long and three-eighths of an inch in diameter.

Not Taken

A small piece of lunar rock and a slide covered with moon dust to be viewed through a microscope, were not taken.

Spokesmen for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Houston said the exhibit apparently was unauthorized.

Police said two off-duty policemen had been hired to guard the store's display of jewelry worth $25,000 but not the lunar exhibits.

No Guard

Steven Lawrence, business manager of the Institute of Geophysics at the University of California at Los Angeles, said several persons from the institute were with the display but that there was no guard "as such."

The space agency had assigned the sample — moon rock No. 50 from the first moon-landing mission — for research to Dr. George Weatherill of the UCLA Institute.

"I didn't even know they were going to exhibit my sample," Weatherill said.

About 300 Persons

About 300 persons attended the affair, viewing the samples and then going to the ground floor of the store where dining tables were set up among displays and clothing racks.

Lawrence, who said he keeps the institute's lunar samples in a safe in his office, said he removed Weatherill's sample about 6 p.m. Saturday and took it to Bullock's Wilshire for the dinner to benefit the Saul Weinstein Foundation and the Doheny Eye Foundation. The samples went on display about 7 p.m.

The vial was reported missing about 10:15 as guests were dancing after dinner.

Ground Into Powder

Weatherill said the sample had arrived at the institute last November as a rock chip and had been ground into powder for research to determine its age. He said his tests were inconclusive but estimated its age as 3.7 billion years, the same age as lunar material tested elsewhere.

"Much of its value already has been extracted," Weatherill said. "But we're going to try to work on it some more. We could have consumed the entire mount in our work."

"It's possible we would have found something very important scientifically."

No Dollar Value

A thief would not be able to dispose of the dust legally.

"It's something you can't put a dollar value on," commented Weatherill.

Among the dinner guests were many persons prominent in scientific circles including an astronaut, Walter Cunningham.

The FBI and police began investigating, giving no word on whether they had any leads.

NASA spokesman said the agency had given permission for about 50 exhibits of lunar samples without encountering a loss.

And Ethel Jane Maurer, coordinator of the reference services, notes that chances are her staff can find the answer to most any question a person might want answered.

Library Reference Staff Fields Many Questions

The answer is July 9, 1915.

Besides general questions to answer, the reference service gets heavy use by the business world. There is an area of the reference service open to the public devoted to business.

Reference material kept ready for business includes the Federal Reserve Board reports, Moody's Stock reports, the Wall Street Journal, tax guides, Thomas' Register of Manufacturers, business magazines, and books on all phases of the business world.

Directories Popular

Another popular part of the reference service is the directory section, where telephone books and directories for every major city and its suburban area as well as for all of Nebraska are kept.

"This section becomes very popular during Christmas season as persons use the service to check on the address of friends and relatives," Miss Maurer said.

She said that directory information is also often sought by lawyers who are handling estates.

Often Asked

Types of questions frequently asked, she said, pertain to:

— Spelling.
— Identifying quotations.
— Atlas questions.
— Current and historical events.

— Book, movie and play reviews.

— Stock market quotations and cost of living index.

— Words of songs and poems.

— Composers of songs and authors of books.

— Used-car prices.

— Recipes.

— We even do some translation work," Miss Maurer said.

She said probably the most amusing question recently asked of the reference desk was, "Do you have a snack bar?"

To which she answers, "We do have food for thought."

School Rulings . . .

Finch Blasts Court

Washington (UPI) — Secretary Robert H. Finch of Health, Education and Welfare Sunday voiced the strongest administration criticism to date of what he termed confusing and misguided court decisions on desegregation.

He condemned particularly court-ordered racial percentages for schools in Charlotte, N.C., and Los Angeles, calling them "Totally unrealistic . . . and moving in the wrong direction" because extensive busing would be required.

Finch gave his views in an interview on the Metromedia Radio News program "Profile."

He appeared to shift the burden for necessary new desegregation steps from the South to the North and West.

Bitten The Bullet

"I think they're really bitten the bullet in the South," he said. "We haven't bitten it elsewhere in the nation."

In most Southern school districts, the secretary said, "the old dual systems have been broken up."

"We're in Atlanta, and Mobile and Charleston. And those kind of problems are de facto — arising from residential patterns — in the very real sense you have them in Chicago and New York and Los Angeles."

"And you just can't compare that to the old rural system of one black and one white school," Finch said.

One In Three

Although no final figures are available for the current school year, government officials estimate about one black child in three in the South attends school with an appreciable number of whites.

The secretary conceded also a Senate-passed provision calling for nationwide application of school desegregation guidelines would, "as a practical effect," slow down desegregation in the South if it is finally put into effect.

The Nixon administration, Finch said, "is confused by what the courts have said. There are a number of areas where the supreme court has not spoken at all."

"They have never said what a unitary system is," he continued.

They Still Cling

to the distinction between de jure and de facto segregation, which I happen to believe as a lawyer is no longer valid.

"I think segregation or racial isolation, whatever it appears, is one and the same," Finch said. "We have a very confused set of decisions that are — that go to both ends of the spectrum with regard to the question of busing, for example."

City Taxpayers Likely To Pay More If County Wins Appeal On Values

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

If Lancaster County wins its appeal of the State Board of Equalization's action last year to raise rural land values 29%, it appears it will cost city taxpayers some extra tax dollars.

Lancaster County's rural land values were increased $21,053,330 by the State Board of Equalization last year, which amounted to $7,368,670 assessed value for tax purposes.

The added value brought in about $750,000 added tax dollars to the county which would have to be refunded to rural landowners if the county wins its appeal.

Not Equitable

The county's contention is that the method used to determine the farm land values should be raised 29% was not equitable.

Rumors are that Lincoln businessmen and property owners are somewhat unhappy with the county's decision to appeal since results of the recently completed reappraisal indicate that the 29% increase was not out of line.

Cole-Layer-Trumble, which conducted Lancaster County's reappraisal, raised the total county real estate values more than 25% with the farm land receiving at least a 15% increase over and above the 29% increase by the state.

If the county wins its appeal, tax money collected in the 29% added value on farm land will have to be refunded and thus necessitate added levy on all property in the county.

2 Extra Mills

For Lincoln residents, about an added two mills on next year's total levy will be necessary in order to make the refunds to the rural landowners. The two mills does not include

Rhodesia Dissolves Parliament

Salisbury — Rhodesia's government declared itself a racially segregated republic and dissolved its parliament as of midnight. White Rhodesians, having expected the final break with Britain, accepted it without fanfare or celebrations.

Decision On Jets Delayed

Washington — The White House, on the 30th day after President Nixon said he would decide whether to sell Israel more jet planes within 30 days, said that no decision had been reached. Congressional sources said Nixon was weighing domestic Jewish pressure to sell the jets against the possible escalation in the Middle East following any such sale.

Guatemala Elections Orderly

Guatemala City — National elections in Guatemala were orderly despite the attempt of guerrillas, largely based in Guatemala City, to disrupt the voting. One of their acts was the kidnapping of the country's foreign minister Friday. He was released Saturday in exchange for the freeing of an imprisoned guerrilla leader.

Women's Liberation Meet Held

Oxford, England — Nearly 500 British women wound up a weekend meeting in Oxford that dramatized the growing women's liberation movement in Britain, where 15 women's equality groups have arisen in the past year. The women at the weekend conference ranged from young revolutionaries to staid housewives.

HHH Tells Choice For Chairman

Washington — Although suggesting that there were other candidates he could "live with," Hubert H. Humphrey told the executive committee of the Democratic Party that he preferred Matthew E. Welsh, governor of Indiana from 1961 to 1965, as the next chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Liberals in the party predicted a challenge against Welsh when the national committee meets Thursday. (More on Page 2.)

Moon Dust Stolen In L.A.

Washington — Police officials in Los Angeles began an investigation into the presumed theft of a tiny sample of dust containing nothing of value. The dust, in a small vial, had originally rested on the surface of the moon and had been brought back by the Apollo 11 astronauts. It disappeared from a display at a charity dinner in Los Angeles. Burch Tells Views On Subpoenas

New York — Dean Burch, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, said he believed that reporters' notes should not normally be subject to court subpoenas. But when film, even when not broadcast, shows a crime being committed, it poses a different problem, he added. (More on Page 7.)

Fire May Be Pollution Threat

Venice, La. — A fierce fire burning on an oil-drilling platform in the Gulf of Mexico is threatening to become a pollution threat. As soon as the dynamite that is expected to snuff out the flames is set off, some workers for the Chevron Oil Company will start drilling new holes to try to shut off the expected flow of underground oil into the gulf while others will try to scoop up the oil to keep it away from beaches.

Pompidou Faces More Protests

Local Meat Packing Firm Distributes Nationwide

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Each day trucks leave piggy-back on the railroad from Lincoln for one or more of 150 grocery stores on the West Coast and about 650 stores located on the East Coast.

They have been loaded with meat products processed or slaughtered at American Stores Packing Co., a division of Acme Markets, that depend heavily on Nebraska-produced and fed livestock.

Last week the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee toured American Stores to become better acquainted with the agricultural related industries of the community.

Lincoln Plant A First

"There are probably many Lincoln residents and Nebraskans in general who have never known that one of the nation's first automated frankfurter processing systems was located in Lincoln," said a well-informed Chamber member after the tour of American Stores.

George David, plant manager, explained that American Stores has been developing methods to further "streamline carcasses" in shipping out just the edible products from the plant.

From the 120-per-hour rail beef slaughtering to extensive pork and some lamb processing, the products that leave American Stores are packed as direct orders for store delivery.

No Further Stops

A truck leaving piggy-back from Lincoln will make direct deliveries to up to eight stores without further stop or storage of the products.

"Our operation is a little peculiar to some in that we move right from plant to store and consumer," explained David.

Included in the pork products that leave the plant is the popular Lancaster brand that has long been a trademark from this area and well received by consumers at coast cities.

What are the problems of a modern meat packing and processing plant in Nebraska?

Getting Cattle Hard

One is securing enough cattle within the trade area.

As feeding operations get larger, American Stores spokesmen note that much of the personal relationship between feeder and packer is on the decline.

David expects a continued trend toward more cattle being sold on the grade and yield basis.

He says "the moment of truth" comes when cattle get slaughtered and are in the coolers.

David says the efforts by cattlemen to produce more cutability are definitely producing results that are noticeable at American Stores.

4,000 Head A Week

The beef needs of American Stores requires the purchase of about 4,000 head a week, secured preferably within a 125-mile radius and averaging about 950 pounds.

Nearly 650 employees are occupied in the various duties from slaughter to operating the equipment that wraps and prices individual packages for the consumer.

Even for repeat visitors, the continuous smokehouse and production capacity of up to 60,000 frankfurters per hour always brings the visitor comment, "That's a lot of sandwiches."

elements in the party.

Humphrey then said he would endeavor to fashion a consensus around some other candidate.

Spivak said repeatedly that the executive committee wanted an open selection process. "They are seeking the most open possible means to come up with a nominee for chairman who will be acceptable to the widest possible number of Democrats," he said.

"They are not simply rubber-stamping any proposal."

Welsh is a lawyer in Vincennes and Indianapolis, Ind. He served as governor from 1960-64 and was the stand-in candidate of the Democratic organization in the 1964 presidential primary against former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

There are a number of questions involved, and not all of them have been satisfactorily answered.

Those explaining the proposal generally admit that some cor-

Enthusiasm has always played a big part in successful agriculture.

Every year farmers and ranchers look forward to a better crop, higher market prices, fewer insects and better gains in hogs and cattle.

This optimistic attitude is necessary to constantly improve agricultural products.

So it was heartening to speak last week to an enthusiastic group as the Jefferson County Farmers Union. Not only were we near our old stomping grounds, but we were pleased to find so many people actively working to strengthen the farmer's voice.

The president of the group, Richard DeBoer of Fairbury, is an example of the kind of forward-looking young leaders agriculture needs.

The migration of farmers from one state to another is resulting in impressive recruiting statistics for farmers' organizations.

One Farmers Union member contacted 13 people one day last week and sold 11 Nebraska farmers membership in the Farmers Union.

It has been suggested that if the new plan goes into effect, commission members ought all to be elected.

As vital to Nebraska's growth as irrigation is going to be in the future, it is awfully important reactions need to be made in LB1357 before it is likely to be accepted by the people.

We got this statement straight from the Statehouse:

"We got lazy on the legal aspects and copied the old groundwater conservancy bill. We admit this needs changing."

LB1357 provides some pretty extensive authority for the directors of the proposed natural resources districts. The one discussed last week, for instance, could levy taxes of an estimated $1.6 million a year.

That much money ought to provoke careful consideration by the citizens involved.

Burlington Northern Railway Officially Formed In Merger

Burlington Northern Inc. Monday became the nation's newest major railway system with formal unification of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Spokane, Portland and Seattle railroads.

The BN system, which operates 26,500 miles of line serving 18 states and two Canadian provinces, is headquartered in St. Paul, Minn.

In a joint statement, Board Chairman John M. Budd and President Louis W. Menk identified the main problem facing the new railway as size.

"With formalities of merger accomplished," they said, "the gigantic task of physically consolidating four major railroads must be started, and we are beginning that job immediately."

"We believe unified operations can be progressed swiftly and effectively because of the tremendous amount of advance planning for mergers by officers and key personnel of our companies," the statement said.

"The complexity of the merger cannot be underestimated, however, and maintaining the continuity of our operation and service to our customers will be Burlington Northern's biggest immediate priority."

Experience Needed

They added that experience in unified operation would have to precede any decisions involving major capital improvements.

The day-long series of meetings for execution of documents and financial transactions climaxed 15 years of discussion, planning and legal effort aimed at merging the railroads.

The new BN system is divided into six regions, each headed by a vice president. F. E. Deines was announced as the officer in charge of the Omaha region.

Package Liquor Taken In Break-In

Police were searching early Monday for an intruder who broke into Tex's Liquor Store at 940 W. Cornhusker Hwy. and made off with an undetermined amount of package liquor.

Police said the package liquor store had been closed, but that not all of the liquor had been removed by the store's owners.

The intruder broke a window to gain entrance to the building. A number of broken bottles were found inside when police arrived at the scene.

Police said a muddy shoe which apparently belonged to the intruder was found inside the building.

Omaha Man Dies From Bullet Wound

Omaha (AP) — A bullet wound in the forehead has proved fatal to a 25-year-old Omaha, identified by police as Michael J. LaPiazza. He died at a hospital about three hours after being shot.

Police said he was shot Saturday night when the gun his father-in-law, James E. Trimble, 52, was holding discharged. Trimble said he was displaying a .32-caliber automatic when it went off accidentally.

Officers identified LaPiazza as a foreman at Kent Industries Inc. He was survived by his widow, Katherine, and two small children.

Limestone Bust Gone

A limestone bust of a girl's head, valued at approximately $350, was reported stolen from the southeast corner of Barbara Laging's property at 1140 S. 20th, police said Sunday evening.

Washington (UPI) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said he was "delighted" Nebraska Congressman Dave Martin has announced he will seek re-election to the House.

Rep. Martin To File For Re-Election

Washington (UPI) — Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., announced he will file for re-election Monday, stating he will continue to support the Nixon administration policies aimed at solving domestic and foreign problems.

The Third District representative in Nebraska said the 1970s have opened up "new priorities" for federal expenditures "and it is important that Republicans be re-elected to the Congress in order to support President Nixon's policies."

Martin said Nixon's budget for fiscal 1971 will have more funds for human resource programs than for defense — the first time this has happened in the past 20 years.

Martin said detailed study is needed in the field of the many federal programs we now have in education, manpower training and other areas. Included, he said, were 175 federal education programs in all departments of government and 31 different manpower training programs.

"It is time that these be completely re-evaluated to eliminate duplication of effort and waste of the taxpayers' dollar," he said.

Ford 'Delighted'

Washington (UPI) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said he was "delighted" Nebraska Congressman Dave Martin has announced he will seek re-election to the House.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLLER

How seriously do you take your bridge? Well, it probably depends upon a lot of things — how well you like the game, how often you get to play, your personality, etc. Not many bridge players practice daily, however, nor live by a training diet, refrain from drinking before a match and impose a 2 a.m. curfew upon themselves.

This is the routine, however, of the U.S. Aces. Never heard of them? Chances are you will. They are a professional bridge-playing team of six men, organized two years ago by Dallas financier Ira B. Corn, Jr. and written up in a recent issue of Newsweek magazine.

The sacrifices to training made by the group pay off, with Corn paying $25,000 annually for each of his players. In June, the team hopes to take the international bridge championship from Italy.

The annual pay is just the beginning, of course. If the venture really gets rolling, which it probably will do, all sorts of commercial enterprise are possible. After all, a lot of people play bridge, or play at it.

The Newsweek article tells you a lot about people who play the game. Most bridge pros, said Newsweek, are highly sensitive, egocentric personalities, prone to bristle at criticism and often lacking in team spirit.

The only disagreement we have with that is that the statement seems to attribute to the pros characteristics that can be found in plenty among the amateurs. Even a guy with a casual approach to the game can have his bad moments.

It may not make much difference to you whether you win or lose but you still hate to see a good hand thrown away with awful bidding or terrible playing. And have you never cringed as you sat silently and watched your partner toss away a grand slam on a foolish chance?

Bridge is that way — you just can't totally take it or leave it. Some people do, of course, and they are the ones who can drive a more serious player berserk. People in this category do all sorts of idiotic things.

On defense, they will pass up a chance to trump in with the setting trick, will lead without any thought of what has so far been played, will trump their partner's trick, etc. If they are playing a hand, they will quickly box themselves in so they can't get back to the dummy, will fail to get out the trumps or make some other ridiculous move.

The casual or non-serious player can also be bugged by an evening of lousy cards. Spend the night playing bridge with hands that average four or five counts apiece and you are ready for bed at an early hour.

This is especially true if the opposition likes to crow about its success, and what opposition doesn't? But if you hold good cards all night, counts frequently running up to 18 or 20, you could play the game until sunup.

The non-serious player can further be aggravated by the constant talkers. Some people play bridge only as a device for something else, as conversation. It takes 10 minutes for the cards to be dealt, 10 minutes to start the bidding, 10 minutes to start the playing and 10 minutes to finish the hand — 40 minutes for one hand of bridge.

On the other hand, the non-serious player can find it uncomfortable playing with dedicated bridge enthusiasts. It's a rather trying experience to know you have to sit there all night and never make a mistake, especially when you are unfamiliar with all the finer points of the game.

And what about that team spirit? Probably no game in the land can produce more animosity between members of the same team than bridge. After all, if your opponent makes a mistake, it is to your advantage but if your partner makes one, you have to share in the liability.

Bridge is an ego game, said the Texas financier, and you can't really argue with him. The trouble is that the other guy's ego is so obnoxious, while your own, of course, is modest.

Promises Made, Broken
Old Story To The Indian

WASHINGTON — The Indian is a stranger in his own homeland. Even the name is not his. He has been an Indian for only 500 years — since European explorers sought the Indies and found a New World. For centuries before that, he was a Dakota, a Sioux, a Shoshone, a Cherokee or a Navajo — or one of the hundreds of other distinct peoples who controlled this continent. This is a heritage he wants restored.

Helping the Indian is one thing liberals and conservatives seem to agree on. Excluded from the black power movement by separatist-minded militants, liberals are being attracted to the cause of Indian rights. On the other side, Vice President Agnew has declared: "Indian people are still the most poverty-stricken Americans — and it is outrageous that this should be so." The Nixon administration, he says, will "attack that raw truth."

Acting as chairman of the National Council on Indian Opportunity, the vice president on Jan. 26 instructed the heads of a wide range of government departments to come up with responses to Indian demands for help within 30 days. The outcome is regarded by Indian leaders as a test of whether the administration will meet Indian needs with more aid than rhetoric. The fiscal 1971 budget requests about $325 million for the 400,000 Indians on reservations. Total spending during the present fiscal year on all Indian programs is $525 million.

But Indians who have made it past the average Indian life span of 44 years — one-third less than the national average of 64 years — have heard it all before. A recent book states: "The libraries of official Washington have become crowded morgues for reports which document that Indians are denied basic civil rights

What About Laos?

Surely nothing could be more important at this stage of events in Southeast Asia than a disclosure by President Nixon of U.S. involvement in Laos. If for any reason, immediate disclosure to the public would be harmful to national security, then at least the truth could be told in closed congressional hearings. There is precedent for that.

Senators of both parties are understandably distressed that most information — presumably reliable, but nevertheless unofficial — coming out of Laos is from the news media and that American officials concerned with U.S. activities in the countries neighboring Vietnam are attempting censorship.

Nothing less than potential for another Vietnam is the fear and the unofficial reports substantiate that fear. CIA agents and military advisors — supposedly in greater numbers proportionately than those in Vietnam under the Kennedy commitment — are swarming throughout the country, secretive U.S. troop incursions across the Vietnam border, massive B-52 raids admitted officially only recently all point to the growing involvement.

Republican Sen. Charles Mathias charges that even now "U.S. military activities in that country (Laos) clearly violate the spirit of both the national commitments resolution — requiring specific approval for every new engagement of American troops abroad — and the amendment to the defense appropriations act prohibiting use of funds for American ground combat troops in Laos or Thailand."

An airing of those activities is in order. Congressional acts shouldn't be violated, let alone the possibility of the American people being hoodwinked into another Vietnam. Even the most ardent advocate of the U.S. military mission in Vietnam should not want a similar bloodletting next door.

The Law And Humanity

There is no satisfaction to be gained anywhere in the sentencing late last week to a possible maximum four years in prison of Larry Kent Zink, former University of Nebraska student who burned his draft card on the campus.

Zink told the court before sentencing: "It seems such a waste for myself to possibly spend some years in prison when I might be able to do some good for society. It just seems to me that the values some way have become twisted."

One can easily sympathize with Zink's position. It is not a very enviable world in which we live when young men are forced to enter military service and, perhaps, take an active part in fighting a war in which they do not believe.

On the other hand, Federal District Court Judge Robert Van Pelt noted that adoption of a stance that American citizens could disobey the laws of their choosing would evolve into a situation where "only the strong would remain free."

Certainly, the law is not perfect and cannot answer all the human problems that arise in our society. But it is law by which we live and as imperfect as it is, it remains the only means of order and freedom that we have.

Those who choose to violate the law, as Zink has done, must do so at their peril, however noble their sacrifice might be. But there is not only the means of protest or the only avenue to change that exists. When and if the law is in error, the only alternative has to be orderly change of that law, not willful violation of it. Perhaps in his own way, Zink is serving such an end but at a price no man should have to pay.

Withholding Of Facts On Intervention In Laos
Questions Executive Right To Suppress News

WASHINGTON — In his definitive foreign policy speech of last Nov. 3, President Nixon said: "I believe that one of the reasons for the deep division about Vietnam is that many Americans have lost confidence in what their government has told them about our policy. The American people cannot and should not be asked to support a policy which involves the overriding issues of war and peace unless they know the truth about that policy."

Well, you can say that again about Nixon and his policy in Laos. He has withheld the truth about important United States military operations in that country. As he is de-escalating the war in Vietnam and claiming a lot of credit for it, he is escalating the war in Laos and refusing to release the facts about it.

The result is that the President and the United States Senate are now arguing about U.S. military actions well known to the enemy in Laos, but officially withheld from the American people. In fact, State and Defense Department officials have testified in executive session about what our "advisers" and airmen are doing there, but they have claimed executive privilege on this testimony and have refused to release it to the public.

All the Nixon administration has conceded publicly is that it has certain "advisers" in Laos and has authorized high-level bombing of part of the enemy's supply trail that runs from North Vietnam through Laos into South Vietnam.

In addition to these high-level bombing raids, however, U.S. airmen have been flying fighter support missions for the Laotian army in the Plain des Jarres and even closer to the North Vietnamese and Chinese borders, training the Meo Mountain tribesmen to fight the North Vietnamese and the Laotian communists, and according to some senators, concealing the identity of the American military assistance by transferring regular armed services personnel to the Central Intelligence Agency, and assigning military supply missions to non-military U.S. private airline carriers.

It should be noted that a great deal of information about U.S. military action there has been printed, much of it by Henry Kamm of the New York Times. The main issue is not so much about the facts, but about the right of the administration to try to conceal the facts, and to suppress the facts even after its own officials have confirmed them in private congressional committee hearings.

████████

Here, for example, is an exchange between Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri in the Senate on Feb. 25:

Goldwater: Does the senator mean that the United States has troops in combat in Laos?

Symington: It depends on a definition.

Goldwater: I mean Americans engaged in fighting on the ground.

Symington: I am not in a position to answer any questions . . . in open session at this time . . . because the transcript has not been released as yet on any meaningful basis . . .

████████

Goldwater: The reason I ask is that it has not been any secret that we have been flying fighter support missions in support of the Laotian army up on the Plain des Jarres. The senator, I know, has known about that for a long time. If the information is classified, I will not press the point . . .

████████

The point of this exchange is that the information about U.S. fighter support was in fact put on a "secret" basis so far as the administration was concerned. Symington, of course, knew it was a fact but was not free to discuss it until Goldwater blurted out the truth.

It was another sharp debate in an executive meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee recently over this same issue of what information senators have the right to request and what information the executive branch has the right to withhold. During a private interrogation of William J. Porter, who is Nixon's ambassador to Korea, Chairman J. William Fulbright asked about the implications of deploying U.S. nuclear weapons in that part of the world.

████████

Porter replied that he had been instructed not to discuss this question even with members of the Foreign Relations Committee in secret session. Fulbright observed that in 25 years he had never had such a reply during a confirmation hearing and demanded to know who had so instructed the ambassador. All Porter would say was that he had been instructed "on higher authority." This was something new, the chairman observed: "Was the ambassador taking the Fifth Amendment?"

Goldwater: The reason I ask is that it has not been any secret that we have been flying fighter support missions in support of the Laotian army up on the Plain des Jarres. The senator, I know, has known about that for a long time. If the information is classified, I will not press the point . . .

What is happening, in short, is precisely what Nixon himself warned against in his Nov. 3 speech. Members of the Senate are losing confidence in what the government is telling them about Laos, members of the press on the scene are being condemned for reporting what they see, and the President and the Foreign Relations Committee are getting into a nasty confrontation over the constitutional question of what information can be withheld, released, or suppressed.

Average Person Can Forget Tax Reform Act

EDITORS NOTE: Following is the first in a series of five articles entitled "Coping With Your Income Taxes." They were written by AP staffer John Pearce to help taxpayers prepare their 1969 tax returns.

By JOHN PEARCE

Washington (AP) — Coping with your 1969 income tax return, streamlined though it is, will be complicated enough without unnecessary worry. So the first step is to forget the big Tax Reform Act if you're a normal wage-earning taxpayer.

That includes the change in the surtax, which was 10% for all of 1969, and must be paid even though it was cut to 5% as of Jan. 1.

As in the past, your return must be in the hands of the Internal Revenue Service or postmarked by midnight April 15. But for the first time you won't have the option of using the long form 1040, or — if you had certain kinds of income and it was below $10,000 — the punchcard form 1040A.

Form Universal

Everyone this year will use a new form 1040 and add on other schedules as needed for itemizing deductions, listing income from dividends and interest, property transactions, and retirement plans.

Like last year, this year's form is red, white and blue. The snappy colors highlight those areas of the form where most errors are made. The signature line is played up, for instance, because millions of Americans sweat over their returns each year and then send them in unsigned.

Others forget to attach their W-2 forms — which should be clipped to the back of the form this year instead of to the front — or don't list their Social Security numbers. That oversight can cost a $5 penalty.

Most Get Booklet

Most taxpayers who filed returns last year have been mailed a 32-page booklet containing all the necessary forms. It has a blue gummed label on it which should go back with the form in the envelope provided.

It also contains the Social Security number, eliminating that problem for most.

If you used 1040A last year you'll find the front of the new 1040 asks for about the same information as both sides of the old form, and you probably can use it by itself. But the IRS found two things: that some taxpayers using the punchcard form were denying themselves legitimate deductions; and that the punchcard prevented many otherwise eligible individuals from taking advantage of the lower rates for head of households or surviving spouses.

If you itemize deductions, had pension income or sold stock you'll have to add pages to the basic form using the IRS's "building block" method. Just tear out the sheets you need and discard the rest of the booklet — after reading the instructions and using the tax tables to figure what you owe or Uncle Sam owes you.

One Page Sufficient

But nearly half of the estimated 75 million taxpayers who file returns will need only the basic one-page form, the IRS estimates.

To figure your tax, use Schedule T in the back of the booklet. You keep it for your records instead of sending it in, unless you claim a retirement, investment or foreign tax credit or your own self-employment tax.

Adjusted gross income is a term thrown around a lot at income tax time, for it means total pay — not take-home pay — minus such things as sick pay, moving expenses, travel expenses and payments to self-employment retirement programs. If you claim these adjustments you must file a special form for each.

If you were under 65 years of age last year, you must file a tax return if you had gross income of $600 or more. If 65 or over, you have to file only if your gross income was $1,200 or more. But those with at least $400 of net earnings from self-employment must file and pay the self-employment tax.

U.S. citizens living abroad are subject to the same rules, except that their filing deadline is June 15 instead of April 15.

Vietnam Different

Vietnam is something else again. Servicemen and civilians in war-support roles don't have to file until 180 days after they leave Vietnam.

The tax return booklet has instructions on the back of each form, but if you need fuller instructions a good buy is the 160-page IRS booklet "Your Federal Income Tax," available for 60 cents at IRS offices.

The agency also has a briefer, but free booklet, called "Highlights of 1969 Changes in the Tax Law," which goes through the few changes the Tax Reform Bill made for 1969 and what you need to know in planning for this year.

Some Benefit

Generally speaking, itemizing your deductions instead of simply taking a standard deduction is worth the additional trouble if you own a home, carry a substantial debt load, have above-average child care or medical expenses, or give generously to charity.

Such outlays are deductible.

In other words, they can be subtracted in whole or in part from your income as you report it for tax purposes, thus lessening the amount of it that will be taxable.

Most taxpayers who spend an hour or two plodding through such homework find they are well paid for listing their deductions. Others find it all too confusing, or know they have too few deductions to expect much of a payoff from listing them.

Choice Allowed

In that case, use one or the other of the standard deductions:

— a simple 10% of the adjusted gross income figure you've entered on line 15c of your form, or — the "minimum standard deduction." In the case of married persons filing joint returns or unmarried persons, this is figured as $200 plus $100 for each exemption (count one exemption apiece for yourself and every person you can claim as a dependent, plus another one for each exemption you get if you or your spouse were blind or over 65 at the end of last year.

The maximum for either standard deduction is $1,000 or $500 if married and filing separately.

Here again you get a chance to play something either of two ways. Don't just toss a coin. Do the arithmetic for both and use the one that results in the greater saving.

For example: A couple with two children and an adjusted gross income of $8,000 would have an $800 deduction if they take the 10% deduction.

And they'd better, because if they settled for the minimum standard deduction — $200 plus four times $100 — it would come to only $600.

Sunday Wedding

For the wedding of Miss Joyce DeLane Varland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Varland, Jr., and Stephen Kent Camper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Camper of Omaha, arrangements of white gladiolas appointed the altar of the American Lutheran Church on Sunday afternoon, March 1. The 2 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Wayne Bunn, and Mrs. Olaf Ahlquist, organist, played the wedding music.

Miss Diane Camper of Omaha, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor, and appeared in a floor length gown of forest green velvet accented with white fur cuffs. She carried a cascade of white mums.

Charles Varland served Mr. Camper as best man, and seating the guests were Larry Wells and Paul Petersen.

The bride's slender gown of white velvet was designed with long bell sleeves which were accented with silk braid. Completing the bridal costume was full length train also trimmed with the silk braid, and an elbow length veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white mums and pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. Camper and his bride will reside at 4147 M St. in Lincoln.

The Party Began Around A Cheery Fireplace

Everyone loves the cheery warmth of a log fire. Even as long ago as 65 B.C. Horace asked for "the throwing of logs on the hearth".

The members of the Revelers Club were equally aware of the charms of a fireplace on a chilly night. And Saturday night was chilly. The fireplace and its burning logs actually was part of the plan for a successful "An Evening by the Fireside" party at Hillcrest Country Club on Saturday evening.

There was dinner, of course — and dancing, of course — all made a bit more festive by the evening's beginnings around the fire.

Enjoying the sound of crackling logs were, standing — left to right — Dr. and Mrs.

THE PEOPLE UPSTAIRS

Dear Abby: The letter from "THE PEOPLE UPSTAIRS" who complained about the embarrassing sounds of lovemaking from the people downstairs struck me as being pretty ridiculous. Even in the flimsiest of constructed apartment buildings, I can't imagine anyone being able to hear such noises without straining their ears.

It reminded me of a story I heard years ago: A little old lady called the landlord the neighbor away with ESSOTERICA, that indicated cream that breaks up masses of pigment on the skin, helps make hands look white and young again. Equally effective on the face, neck and arms. Not a cover-up. Acts in the skin—not on it. Fragrant, greaseless base for softening, lubricating skin as it clears up those blemishes. If you have these age-revealing brown spots, blotches, or if you want clearer, lighter skin, use ESSOTERICA. At your favorite drug and toiletry counter. $2.00.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomsen, by the way, are Park Manor residents.

In Hollywood Heights this morning, there is news of a new, very young resident at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Culverton. The young lady, whose name is Dawn Marie Culverton, arrived the day after Valentine's Day, on Sunday, Feb. 15.

She is now at home with her sisters, Denise Marsha and Debra Michele, and brother Robert, Jr.

Husbands Honored At Dinner-Dance

Some of the nicest things about the world are its traditions, and one need not go farther than Lincoln to find them.

One tradition that has been in existence for 10, these many years is the annual party, always a dinner dance, for which the members of the Lancaster County Medical Auxiliary are hostesses and at which their husbands are the honored guests.

In the foreground — left to right — are Dr. and Mrs. O. R. Hayes, Mrs. H. L. Papenfuss, Mrs. J. D. Baldwin, Mrs. Robert Synhorst, Mrs. Robert Haag, Mrs. Keay Hachiya and Dr. Hachiya. Standing in the back row are Dr. Papenfuss, Dr. Baldwin, Dr. Synhorst and Dr. Haag.

Also included among the honored guests at the dinner dance were the interns and the

Chapel Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Cathy Jeanne Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Keller, and Robert Dale Holloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Holloway, took place on Saturday, Feb. 28, in the chapel at Fort Benning, Ga.

The bride's gown of white Chantilly lace was designed in the redingote style. Lace scallops edged the panels of the coat, and the ruffled motif at the jewel neckline was repeated on the full length sleeves. Her tiered veil of illusion was held by a floral cluster of lilies of the valley, and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses and pink carnations.

Mr. Holloway and his bride will reside at Fort Benning.

The bride attended the University of Nebraska where she was affiliated with Angel Flight. Mr. Holloway attended the University of Nebraska and John F. Kennedy College in Wahoo before joining the U.S. Army.

Reception Planned

The Women's Division of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce will entertain newly-naturalized citizens following the naturalization ceremony to be held Thursday, March 5. The reception, which will be held in the Wild Haven Room of the Hotel Lincoln, is under the direction of the Civic Affairs Committee with Miss Mabelle Allen serving as chairman.

Assisting hostesses will be members of St. Leger Cowley Chapter, DAR.

City and state officials, as well as representatives of patriotic, civic and educational organizations will be present to greet the new citizens.

In case you hadn't noticed, spring seems just around the corner. When everyone's fancy turns to leisure living — furniture for casual living to satisfy the most adventurous is available now in all styles, for indoors or outdoors. Many people have discovered that the use of leisure styled pieces in the right places within their homes can create a desirable, individualized look, bringing to an indoor area an outdoor feeling of relaxation and whimsy. Wrought iron cast aluminum in naturalistic designs, rattan, and gayly colored prints for covers add to the bright advent of spring.

Carbon-14 Dating Equipment Is In Operation At Wesleyan

A carbon-14 dating laboratory which will have widespread application in learning more about the environment of the Plains regions is now in operation at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

The laboratory, which consists of a Picker Nuclear Benzene Synthesizer and a liquid scintillation counter, is the only one in the Great Plains region, according to Dr. George Coleman, associate professor of chemistry.

The equipment, which permits the measurement of carbon-14 to find the age of organic material, cost $17,000.

Major Tool

The dating laboratory will have application of an interdisciplinary nature, Dr. Coleman said noting that carbon dating is a major tool of anthropologists, archeologists and geologists, besides its applications to the natural sciences.

Immediate plans for the dating laboratory are to initiate work in cooperation with sociologists and anthropologists in the area to date Great Plains archaeology.

"Carbon-14 dating is a basic tool of archeology. It provides an absolute age scale for archeological discoveries. And by measuring soil samples, it can be determined when the soil was deposited which is important from a geological standpoint."

"There are plenty of unsolved problems in this area because dating is an expensive operation and it hasn't been readily available before," Dr. Coleman said.

In Special Projects

The laboratory will also be used in a special projects course so students can become acquainted with the equipment and provide a valuable contribution to the archeology and geology of the area, Dr. Coleman said.

Two other projects he hopes to undertake will have connection with environmental contamination.

We hope to study the annual growth rings on trees to determine their carbon-14 content before nuclear bomb testing began and after nuclear bomb testing in the atmosphere. We also will be able to measure radio-activity increase in water," he said.

In All Living Matter

The carbon-14, he explained, is found in all living organic matter being constantly produced in the upper atmosphere by the action of cosmic rays on the air.

The dating process begins by converting carbon from organic material through combustion or chemical treatment to benzene (a colorless liquid). A compound is added to the benzene to produce a reaction each time a carbon-14 atom disintegrates.

The sample is then placed in the liquid scintillation counter where the carbon-14 is measured to find the age of the original organic material.

"The older it is, the less carbon-14 it will have," Dr. Coleman explained.

The results obtained from the carbon-14 measured in the material is compared to a pre-established scale determined by the National Bureau of Standards and used by all laboratories so that a age determination may be made.

Sasson Shot Twice

Sasson, 63, was found lying on the floor of his office with two bullets in the head. He was a Lebanon national.

"Israel and its propaganda media continue to fish in troubled waters and try to stir emotions against commando action," said the statement.

It added that Sasson did not oppose the guerrilla movement but was, on the contrary, opposed to world Zionism.

"Zionist agents killed him in order to get rid of his opposition to their movement," the statement said.

Al Fatah said Sasson's murder contradicted its "humane and revolutionary principles that are against sectarian and racial fanaticism."

A dispatch from Beirut reported that the Arab guerrilla organization Al Fatah condemned the murder there Saturday of Jewish businessman Edward Sasson and accused Zionist agents of killing him.

A Fatah statement issued late Saturday night denied "malicious" Israeli reports that Sasson, manager of the Lebanon branch of Metro Goldwyn Mayer, had been killed because Painting started slowly. Like a common cold. A few sneezes. An aspirin. Then the roof falls in.

The house wren said: "Do you need your office tomorrow? The painters want to work in there."

I said: "Why should I need an office? I was thinking tomorrow I'd engrave my piece on the head of a pin. Or chisel it on the side of Mount Rushmore."

She said: "You could work outside. The weather's lovely."

I said: "Why not? And if it rains, I can work under an umbrella. Type with one hand. No capitals. Look how well Don Marquis did with no capitals. Look at e.e. cummings."

The plans for painting started calmly enough. "We'll just have them touch up the kitchen," she said. "And maybe the children's bathroom."

By the time the painters arrived, we added the bedroom — "Women ALWAYS look at the bedroom first."

I said: "I thought you said they looked at the kitchen first."

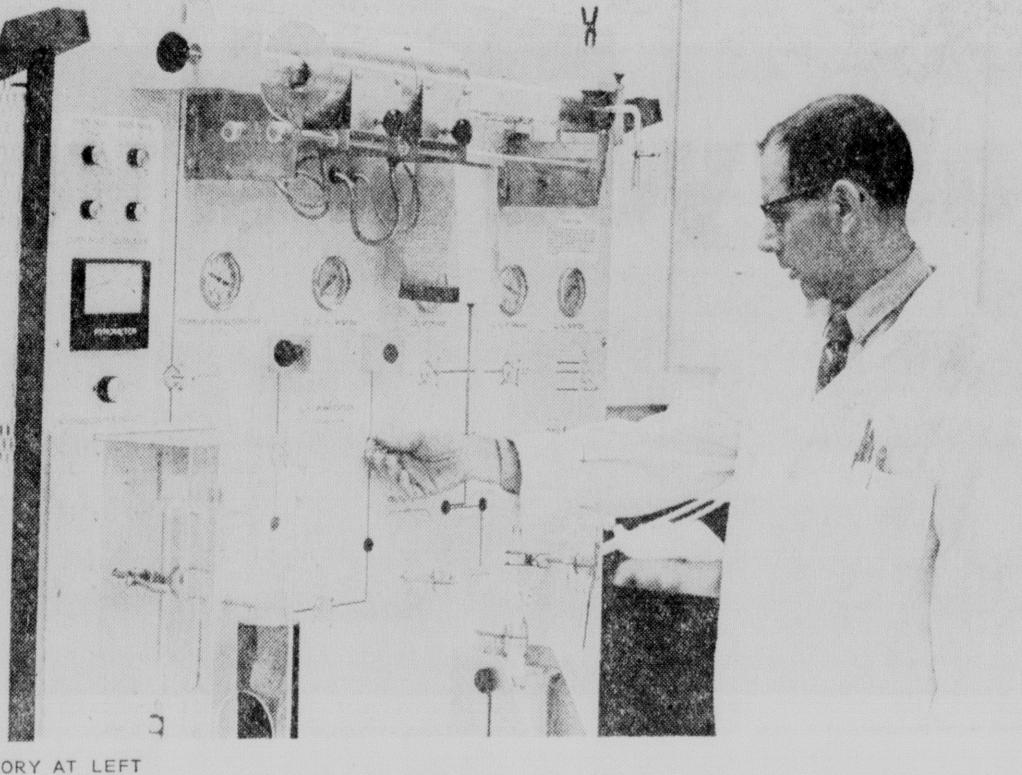

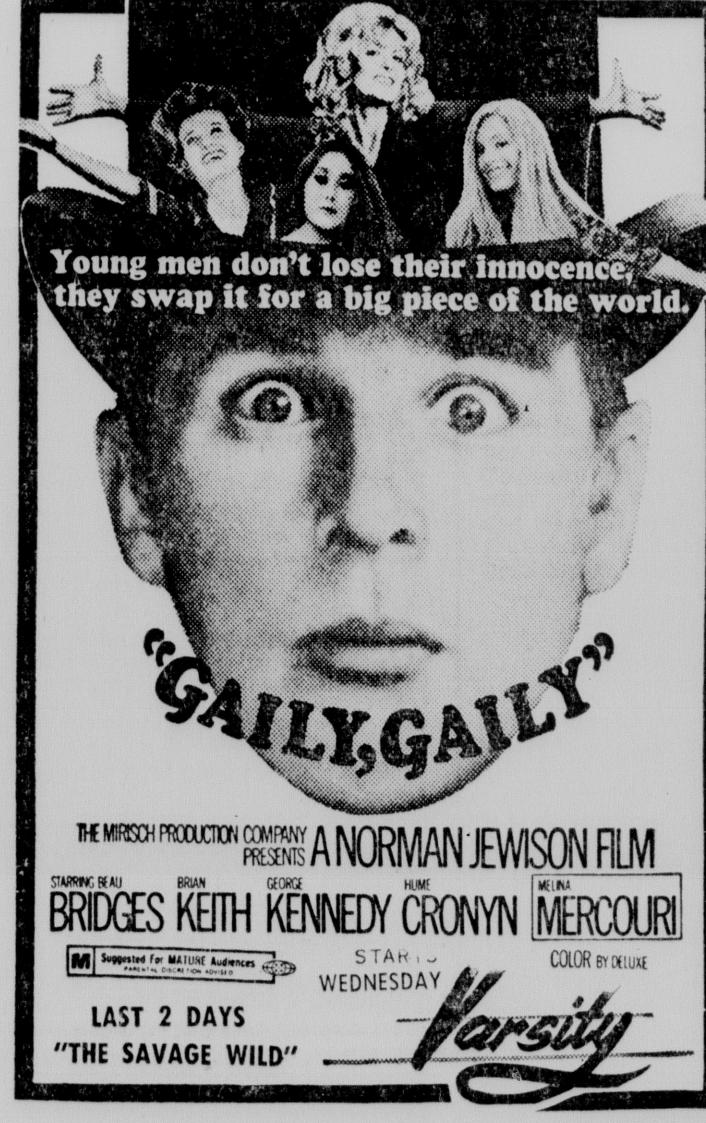

She said: "They really look at both."

I said: "Maybe I can sleep in the doghouse." She said: "We're going to stain it."

Two Lightning Air Raids Flown By Israeli Jets

Tel Aviv, Israel (P) — Israeli jets flew 15 miles inside Egypt Sunday to attack military installations in a pair of lightning raids lasting 10 minutes each, the Israel military command reported.

It said the two attacks came a few hours apart after an earlier bombing run of unspecified length across the Suez Canal.

The command reported all planes back safely. There was no report on the effectiveness of the raids.

PAYS you EXTRA CASH for Surgery

...Pays as much as $600.00 for operations—even pays for surgery in doctor's office or at home—according to a liberal schedule printed right in your Policy, Plus...

PAYS you EXTRA CASH for Home Nurse Care

...Pays as much as $5,000.00 for a full-time Registered Nurse when you come home from hospital.

YES, 25¢ COVERS YOUR ENTIRE FAMILY FOR THE FIRST MONTH. THEN CONTINUE AT NATIONAL HOME'S REGULAR LOW RATE.

So many people discover—after it's too late—that their health insurance doesn't pay all the bills. It does NOT pay for services of doctors, nurses, specialists, surgeons... does NOT generally pay for surgery performed in a doctor's office... does NOT pay for nursing care at home. They learn to their regret that these expenses must be paid out of their own pocket!

But now, National Home brings you a Medical-Surgical-Nurse Family Health Plan that fills the "money gaps" in your health protection. It provides ALL these cash benefits:

Pays you for operations and surgery in the hospital... Pays extra cash for appendectomy, gall bladder removal, mastectomy, hernia, hysterectomy and all other operations listed in your Policy. Extra cash to a maximum of $600.00 paid directly to you for the surgical expense actually incurred.

Pays you for minor surgery in the doctor's office, or even at home... Yes, this National Health Plan pays you extra cash for minor surgery like a wart removal; a hemorrhoid excision; or a cyst removal. You get paid for the cost of every operation—from a minimum of $30.00 to a maximum of $600.00!

Pays you for doctor's bedside visits while hospitalized for a non-surgical confinement... this National Health Plan pays you extra cash for one visit per day by a physician (any physician who submits a bill, even your family doctor!) to a maximum of $500.00 for each hospitalization.

Pays you $100.00 a week for a Registered Nurse at home... Even after you collect the large surgical or non-surgical hospital benefits, if your doctor has you employ a full-time Registered Nurse within 5 days after you come home, we'll pay you cash benefits of $100.00 a week for the same number of days you were hospitalized.

Pays cash direct to you... tax-free extra cash rushed by mail to you (not to doctor or hospital) — cash for Medical, Surgical, Nurse benefits that can total $5,600.00!

What if you already own some health insurance?

WE PAY YOU IN ADDITION TO WHATEVER YOU COLLECT FROM ANY OTHER INSURANCE with any other companies. Even if it's for the same illness! And even if it means you'll be collecting twice! In fact we:

Never mind what Blue Cross pays you. Never mind what benefits you receive from Blue Shield, Workmen's Compensation, Medicare or any other insurance you may have with any other company. We still pay you the extra cash—right up to the maximum. Which means, that even if your other insurance has already paid some, or all, of your medical bills—you still collect from National Health Plan! And every dollar is "extra"—to spend any way you like.

Full benefits even if you're over 65.

You're not penalized because of advanced age. Yes, even if you are 65 or over, you receive the same extra-cash checks for operations... the same extra-cash checks for bedside doctor visits... the same extra-cash checks for minor surgery in the doctor's office... the same extra-cash checks for home nursing as folks younger than you. Can you think of any other insurance plan that provides such exceptional over-age coverage as this National Health Plan?

How can this National Health Plan give you so much for only 25¢ for a whole month?

You deal direct with the company—direct with National Home. NO MIDDLEMAN NEEDED. That's because you virtually enroll yourself using the Enrollment Form right on this page. Costly "processing charges" are eliminated. So is the "red tape" that normally increases the price you pay for insurance. No one need know your personal affairs, except you.

And when you reply before the date shown in the Enrollment Form below...

YOU MUST MAIL ENROLLMENT FORM BEFORE MIDNIGHT, MARCH 5, 1970 OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED.

ACT NOW. NO AGE LIMIT—NO MEDICAL EXAMINATION. NO SALESMAN WILL CALL.

Only 25¢ enrolls your ENTIRE FAMILY!

You really can put this wonderful protection in force for your whole family at a cost of—not $20.00... not $10.00... not even $5.00—but only the incredibly low price of 25¢ for the first month regardless of your age. And then:

Collect whenever any Covered Member of your family requires surgery or hospital medical care, and a full-time Registered Nurse after coming home from the hospital! Maybe hundreds, even thousands of dollars will be paid to you in medical, surgical and nursing benefits! Coverage is for your whole family. Imagine, whenever illness or injury strikes you or your loved ones—you can receive tax-free extra cash for each covered family member.

Stop for a moment—and think.

Think how much a long illness or accident can cost you these days. How would you ever pay those big doctor bills, hospital bills, the cost of operations and home nursing care? What would you do if your pay check stopped, and there was no extra source of income to meet medical expenses that piled up on top of the same day-to-day living expenses that never stop? But now you can have the extra help you need—when you need it most—with this Medical-Surgical-Nurse National Health Plan (NH-05-369).

We can never cancel your Policy!

You can count on this National Health Plan protection no matter how old you get or how many times you collect from us! Your Policy states that we cannot cancel your protection after you've made a lot of claims, or become old—or both—or for any other reason whatsoever! It is GUARANTEED RENEWABLE FOR LIFE! Only you can cancel.

Doesn't enrolling by mail take away the "personal touch"?

Not at all! We give you more personal service, not less. But instead of getting it when you sign up, YOU GET IT WHEN YOU SUBMIT A CLAIM! That's where it really means something. And that's where National Home gives you plenty of personal service. For example, we rush your claim checks direct to you by mail, not to the hospital or doctor.

No medical examination or embarrassing "investigations".

That's right! Forget about filling out one of those lengthy, complicated applications. Or answering a lot of personal questions. Or being "investigated" before your Policy is issued, the way some companies require. The short Enrollment Form on this page tells us all we need to know. Notice it doesn't ask for a medical examination. Or set an age limit.

Adm. Office: Valley Forge, Pennsylvania
1920—Fifty Years of Service—1970

This Plan is underwritten by National Home Life Assurance Company, an old line legal reserve company of St. Louis, Missouri. National Home is licensed by your state and carries full legal reserves for the protection of all policyholders.

What DOESN'T your valuable National Health Plan protection cover?

Get ready for a welcome surprise. It covers absolutely everything except conditions caused by: act of war; pregnancy; any mental or nervous disorders; dental repair or surgery except where repair is necessary due to injury to natural teeth; and any sickness or injury originating before the Effective Date of the Policy (for the first two years only).

You will be covered in any hospital of your choice except a U.S. Government hospital or a nursing or convalescent facility.

Why you must act before the deadline date.

Unless we receive your Enrollment Form the same time as everyone else's, we can't pass on the printing and processing savings that come from issuing many policies at one time. That's why we must impose a deadline date which cannot be extended even on day. If your Form arrives too late, WE WILL NOT BE ALLOWED TO ACCEPT IT.

If you change your mind—
we'll give you money back!

You are still free to return the Policy within 15 days of the day you receive it, and your quarter will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever—for you. The only obligation is ours.

Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are deciding—you'll be protected by all the extra-cash benefits of the Policy just as if you had already said "yes". That's right, you will be fully covered all this time, even if you finally decide to return the Policy and get your quarter back.

Nationally known and respected.

This is the kind of outstanding protection you have read about in Reader's Digest, Parents, National Geographic and other leading publications. The special plans offered by the National Liberty Corporation group of companies are today helping policyholders in all 50 states—and many foreign countries—paying benefits at the rate of more than one million dollars a month.

12 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS about this extraordinary Medical-Surgical-Nurse Plan.

1. How much will my Policy pay me?

Your Policy pays you 3 ways, up to $5,600.00 EXTRA CASH. It pays you up to $600.00 for operations. It pays you up to $500.00 for doctor's bedside visits in the hospital for a non-surgical confinement. And it pays you as much as $5,000.00 for nursing care at home after a hospital stay. You can count on National Health Plan's Medical-Surgical-Nurse protection for the extra cash you need—when you need it most! Naturally, at these low rates we can issue you only one policy of this type.

2. How much do I collect for doctor visits while in the hospital?

We pay you to a maximum of $500.00 EXTRA CASH at the rate of $5.00 per visit for any doctor or specialist of your choice who makes a bedside visit (limit 1 per day) when you're in the hospital for any reason other than surgery.

3. How much do I collect for operations?

We pay you up to $600.00 EXTRA CASH for expenses incurred with surgical operations—we even pay for a simple one your family doctor performs.

4. Do I also collect extra cash for minor surgery performed in my doctor's office?

Yes, you do! You receive cash benefits for surgery even when you go to your doctor's office for a simple operation like setting a broken bone, having a cyst removed, oral surgery, or anything else! Any time a doctor does surgery, whether it's in the hospital or in his office, we pay you EXTRA CASH!

5. What if I have more than one operation at the same time?

In that case—we pay you for the most expensive one performed—even up to $600.00 EXTRA CASH in some cases!

6. How much do I receive for a full-time Registered Nurse at home?

$100.00 A WEEK for as many days as you were hospitalized—to a maximum of $5,000.00. Benefits are paid after you have been hospitalized for 5 days or Surprisingly low rates.

The following rate chart shows how little it costs after the first month to cover yourself, your spouse, and any other adult dependents. Naturally, at these low rates we can issue you only one policy of this type. Each adult, 16 or over, pays the rate shown for his or her age.

Monthly Premium per Adult

16-39	only $2.30
40-49	only $2.85
50-59	only $3.35
60-69	only $4.15
70-79	only $4.95
80 and over	only $5.70

Only $2.75 more per month covers all your dependent, unmarried children...

from the age of 1 month through 18 years. Newborn children are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost!

NOTE: The regular monthly premium shown above (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

Bachman Came Back

We've all heard a lot about the growing concern for the state's young people who leave Nebraska to find employment elsewhere. But those who return are seldom considered.

Ron Bachman came back and he couldn't be happier about it.

Bachman, a native of Omaha, graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan in 1960 and after coaching stints in St. Paul and Kearney, he migrated to Illinois, Cataroda and back to Illinois, before finally returning to his home state to become head wrestling and baseball coach and assistant football coach at Wesleyan.

And now that Bachman is back, he entertains no thoughts of leaving again.

Goal Reached

"I hope to stay here," Bachman says. "We're tired of moving. Everybody shoots for something, and this is what I've been shooting for. I have no aspirations of going higher."

Although Bachman considers himself primarily a baseball coach, it was the assistant football position which brought him back to Wesleyan.

"I've always wanted to come back to Nebraska," he says. "And I've always had a deep feeling for Nebraska Wesleyan. In school and out I've always coached baseball, but I heard about the assistant football job, so I talked to Irv Peterson and Woody Greeno (NWU athletic director) and got the job."

Bachman was named to the wrestling and baseball jobs at the same time. Peterson, who had been both basketball and baseball coach as well as head of the school's physical education department, had decided to give up the baseball position to lighten his work load.

The entire arrangement suits Bachman fine. "I really enjoy it," he says. "We've got a good program and all the coaches get along fine."

Anxious To Start Baseball

Bachman says he is anxious to get started with baseball, but is also looking forward to the upcoming NIAC wrestling tournament.

"We open the baseball season March 24 against Kansas Wesleyan at Salina," he says. "I'm anxious to get started."

"But right now we've still got the conference wrestling tournament to prepare for," he says. "Our wrestlers are improved over last year. We're working hard and maybe we can get two or three champions."

Foresees Winner

Wesleyan hasn't had a winning baseball season in quite some time, but Bachman says he is confident of building a winner.

"I think we can make a winner," he says. "It may take two or three years though."

Bachman says the Plainsmen should be a good hitting club, but "I'm mostly concerned about pitching. We are weak in pitching and pitching is so important."

Bachman has compiled a 102-52 won-loss record during his baseball coaching career, so a winning season at Nebraska Wesleyan in the near future wouldn't be too surprising.

"We've got a tough schedule this year however," he says. Included on NWU's 32-game slate are Stephens Point, Nebraska at Omaha, Pershing College, Kearney, Creighton, Wahoo JFK and Bethany College as well as Kansas Wesleyan, all of which promise to be tough.

Cozad Atop Unshuffled B Ranks

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Cozad continues to lead a Class B high school basketball top ten ratings list that is unchanged from a week ago, but after the first two places the Class A rankings undergo their usual scrambling.

Lincoln Northeast heads the big school pack with Metro League champ Omaha Tech right behind, but the inability of the other Class A teams to maintain a consistent winning pace causes another big shakeup within the rest of the ranks.

Capital City quintets East and Lincoln High make the biggest gain, with East edging up to third while the Links leap from seventh to fourth.

A convincing win by Columbus on the Omaha Benson court started the string of events.

Iba's Last Visit Could Put Huskers In Big 8 Cellar

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Oklahoma State basketball coach Henry Iba makes his last coaching visit to Lincoln tonight as he enters his final week of a long coaching career with his Cowboys invading the NU Coliseum for a 7:35 date with Nebraska.

And the Husker eagles must hope any going away presents to Mr. Iba are limited to pre-game festivities, for a present of the game to the Cowboy coach could mean a cellar finish for the Huskers in the Big Eight race.

A Nebraska loss would drop the Husker league mark to 5-8, putting them with the Cowboys, who now hold the basement spot, at that figure.

To avoid the loss the Huskers must come up with something better than they gave in an 80-63 loss to Missouri at Columbia Saturday night in a game in which all-Big Eight candidate

Tom Scantlebury appeared to be trying to make all-Big One.

The Husker senior, who scored 28 points only a week ago in leading a home court win over Oklahoma, forced shot after shot from bad positions against a Tiger zone and led the Husker turnover effort.

While a loss could put the Huskers in a challenging position for the Big Eight cellar, a victory could put them in good position to finish in a likely three-way tie for third in the final league standings.

The Huskers, who are now 5-7, could wind up 7-7 by winning the final two games, tonight against Oklahoma State and Saturday afternoon against Iowa State on the regional TV contest, both games set for the NU Coliseum.

The championship race ended Thursday night when Kansas State clinched the title and an NCAA berth by whipping Colorado and the battle for second place will end for all practical purposes tonight unless Oklahoma can stop Kansas tonight at Norman.

The Sooners, despite the loss of four players including starter Cliff Ray, upset Kansas State Saturday night at Norman and are now the only Big Eight team with a remote possibility of getting an NIT bid.

If Oklahoma could upset the Jayhawks, they could tie for second place and might get a post-season offer since they've won two tournaments this year, the Big Eight and the Marshall Invitational.

However, a Kansas win would eliminate the Big Eight from the NIT since Kansas, because it is hosting the NCAA regional, cannot go to New York City.

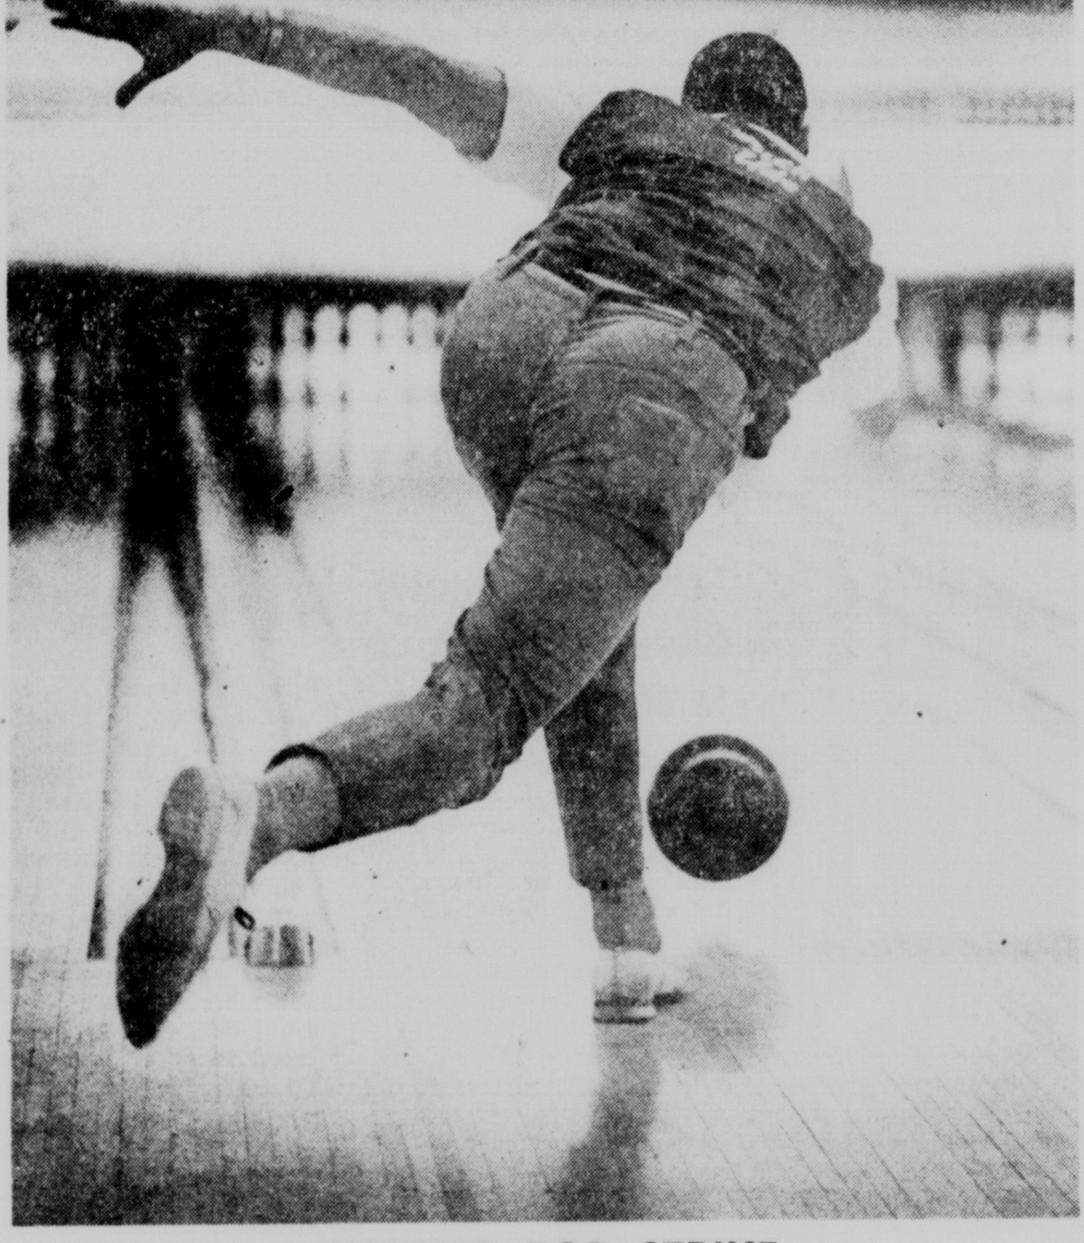

The feeling is that should Kansas finish second NIT officials would make a token offer, knowing full well that Kansas could not accept.

This would allow NIT officials to maintain its policy of inviting the Big Eight runner-up.

Stander Seeking 7th Straight Pro Win

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Omaha — Ron Stander, the young Council Bluffs boxer, will go after his seventh straight pro victory, facing former Texas Golden Gloves champion Lee Powell in the Hill, who has been on the tour only two years, had a three stroke lead going in to the final round but saw it dwindle to one when he bogeyed three of four holes starting at the third.

He recovered with consecutive birdies on seven and eight, picked off another birdie on 10 and parred in the rest of the way.

McGowan and Hinson dropped back when both were in the water on the ninth. McGowan took a triple bogey and Hinson a double bogey.

Colbert's last chance to catch the leader went by the boards when he three-putted the 17th.

That gave Hill a four-stroke lead going to the 18th. He drove into the right rough, and hit a second far to the right of the green. He clipped to within 15 feet and made the putt that brought him a $30,000 check, the biggest pay day of his life.

Near the end of the tourney, Dave Hill tore out of the clubhouse bar, a gin and tonic sloshing in his hand. Last year's No. 2 golf money winner had tried to play it cool while younger brother Mike marched to the Doral Open's $30,000 top check.

At the same time the C and D district winners from last week will tangle in regional playoffs for a coveted berth in their state classics.

Swenson's Efforts Force KU To Share Big Eight Spotlight

Kansas City (AP) — Kansas remains the master of all it surveys in Big Eight track, but nobody will argue that Kansas State's Ken Swenson lays claim to sharing some of the glory with the Jayhawks.

Kansas lapped the field to win its fifth straight conference indoor track title Saturday night, rolling up 68 points to K-State's 37. Expected challenges from Nebraska and Missouri fizzled miserably.

Swenson stole much of the Jayhawks' thunder, however, as he swept to victories in the mile and half-mile runs in one of the most stirring individual efforts in the 42-year history of the meet. He was the only double winner.

Swenson first captured the mile run in 4:09.3, nipping

Kansas' Doug Smith and Missouri's Mike Kelly at the wire, then rallied from an estimated 30 yards back to edge Kansas' Jim Neihouse at the finish line in the 880.

His half-mile time was a meet record 1:51.9, eclipsing the mark set three years ago by former KU great Jim Ryun who did 1:52.0.

"That has to rank with some of the outstanding performances in this or any other meet," K-State Coach DeLois Dodds said. "Ken is a great runner and as determined an individual as you'll find."

However, the great effort by Swenson, a senior from Clay Center, Kan., and teammates Luci Williams and Ray McGill couldn't offset Kansas' overpowering show of strength in virtually all events.

Williams, who tried football and basketball at K-State before turning to track as a third choice, won the 60-yard high hurdles in 7.1 seconds, tying the meet record. McGill highjumped 7 feet, one inch to set a new meet standard.

Kansas rolled to five individual titles, paced as expected by its massive weight triumvirate of Karl Sabl, Steve Wilhelm and Doug Knop. They finished 1-2-3 in the shot put for 13 points, with Sabl throwing 65'6" and Wilhelm 65'0 1/2", both surpassing Sabl's 1969 record of 64'11 1/4".

Biggest surprise for the Jayhawks, however, came in the 1,000-yard run where freshman Brian McElroy won in 2:10.6 and Roger Kathol finished second for 10 KU points. They both beat defending champion Dave Peterson of K-State.

Other Kansas winners were Jim Johnson with a record leap of 16'16 1/2" in the pole vault, Jay Mason with a time of 9:02.2 in the two-mile run and Phil Reaves with a long jump of 24-11.

Also taking first places were Garth Case of Nebraska, 11:13 in the 600 yard run; Mel Gray, Missouri, .06.0 in the 60; Dennis Cotner, Oklahoma, :49.1 in the 440; Jim Bolding, Oklahoma State, :06.7 in the low hurdles, and the Nebraska mile relay team in 3:17.7.

Missouri was third with 34 points and then came Nebraska 29, Oklahoma State 20, Iowa 18, Iowa State 10 and Colorado 8.

Penalties Hurt As Knights Fall To Kansas City

Kansas City (AP) — The Kansas City Blues took advantage of Omaha penalties to score three goals in defeating the Knights 5-2 Sunday.

The victory was the third straight in the Central Hockey League for the Blues and their second in as many days over the Knights.

Kansas City used a 5-minute slashing penalty against Mike Rorabie to score a pair of goals in the first period.

Dick Proveiat got the third power play goal early in the third period after the Knights had been caught with seven men on the ice.

Police Charge Jobless Man In 6th Grader's Rape-Slaying

Kingsport, Tenn. (UPI) — Police charged an unemployed restaurant worker Sunday with the rape-slaying of a 12-year-old school girl, but refused to speculate on whether the case was related to two unsolved slayings in other parts of the state.

Fred J. Bowen, 25, was arrested Saturday as he sat on a couch at his father-in-law's home, where he had been staying. He was charged with the murder of 12-year-old Betty Jean Necessary, a pretty sixth grader who was shot five times, sexually assaulted, and buried in a shallow grave about a mile from her home.

The body was found by a search party which had been combing the lightly populated area since Thursday when Betty Jean vanished while walking home from school. The Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification said she had been shot five times — four times in the back and once in the chest.
